JOHN G. COHEN begs respectfully to remind his numerous friends that he undertakes to sell

GENERAL CARGOES, COLONIAL PRODUCE, AND ORDINARY MERCH ANDIES,
both by public sals and private contract; and, at the amentime, to remark, that the advantages his medium offers are not to be surpassed in the colony.

To provide still further for the various interests confided to his care, the Austion Rooms have been further enlarged, thus affording increased accommodation and space for the varied description of goods imported into this market.

The Sale Room—erected, at a vast expense, in anticipation of the growing wants of a great and increasing community—is, from its general structure and internal arrangements, combined with the general convenience it affords, in all respects acknowledged to be the most complete and unique in the colony. In the rear are Store Rooms, capacious and secure, capable of receiving more than 3000 tons of merchandise. It is needless to add, that their central position leaves nothing to be desired.

John G. Cohen, in soliciting a continuance of the support with which he has been favoured for more than twenty—one years, begs to assure his various patrons that he will continue to devote the same zeal and interest that has hithered distinguished his career as Auctioneer and General Agont, and to maintain that large share of confidence he has earned from a discriminating and discorring public.

WILLCOX AND GIBBS' FAMILY BEWING MACHINE.—In 1864 it competed and recover aims out of ten prizes given for the best Sewing Machine in the United States. It forms a flat, even, and clastic seam, which is warranted not to rip in wear if properly sewed, when every third stitch is cut. This machine can be run but one way; two thousand stitches, or two yards of work, can be done in one minute without dropping a stitch. The machine is so simple and accurate in its construction that it supersedes the use of the noisy shuttle, and with one thread produces all the practical results of the two-thread machines, and more, for it fells without basting, and hems the finest muslin without puckering. It will sew perfectly from one to thirty-two thicknesses of calico without alternation of synsion. The highest colonial testimonials can be given of their practical working. S. HEBBLEWHITE, 432, George-street, and 292. Pitt-street.

Gorge-street, and 292. Pitt-street.

SINGER AND CO.'S LOCK-STITCH SEWING

MACHINES.— The superiority of these sawing machines over all others is universally acknowledged. They are the MOST SIMPLE, the BEST, the CHEAPERST, and MOST BRAUTIFUL of all sewing machines. They reach the sewing machines of the CHEAPERST, and MOST BRAUTIFUL of all sewing machines. They FELL, HEM, BIND, BEALD, GATHER, TUCK, 4011/T, and, in short, will do a GREATER VARIETY of WORK that the sewing machines of any other seamufacturer. They make the TIGHT LOCK-STITCH allies to ravel, will sew seams of any desired surve or angle, and the length of the stitch can be changed in an instant, to as to make four stitches or forty stitches to the inch, or even finer if desired, and any number between those stitled up in the MOST RECHERCHE style, are apart from the selectron, and the LEARNER FRERF FROM

Corner of George and King streets, (late Ashdown and Co.)

E. ZUCCANI and CO. respectfully inform the public of New South Wales and neighbouring colonies, that having secured the above central and magnificent premises at the corner of George and King streets, they have REMOVED the whole of their very extensive stock of FURNITURE, LOOKING GLASSES, from their late establishments in Bridge and Lewer George streets, which, together with very large importations from Ragland and the continent, just landed ex various vessels, will form without exception the most splendid and varied assoriment of Furniture and Fanney Goods ever before exhibited in these colonies, and is now OPEN FOR PUBLIC VIEW.

An inspection of the same is particularly invited, which will amply repay the trouble of a visit.

E. Z. and Co. have made such arrangements that parties can procure from this establishment tequired in furnishing from the smallest cottage to the largest mannion, and at prices that will suit the means of all persons. They are also prepared to FIT UP OFFICES, Shilps's CABINS, &c., in any style and with every comfort and convenience.

SANDS' SYDNEY DIRECTORY FOR 1866.—
This valuable commercial work will be issued in JANUARY next, and the publisher desires to draw the attention of intending advertisers to the great advantages which it offers as an advertising medium.

The SYDNEY DIRECTORY is to be found in the office of nearly every member of the mercantile commanity, and in addition to its very large local circulation it is widely distributed throughout the world.

Copies for the use of passengers are supplied to every steamer sailing from Port Jackson; ts all the principal hotels on the Overland Route, and in the larger Oriental ports, as Madras, Bombay, Calcutta, &c.; to the Chambers of Commerce of London, Liverpool, Manchester, Glasgow, Dublin, Paris, Leipsic, St. Petersburg, Berlin, Hantburg, New York, New Orleans, Toronto, Montreal, and, in fact, every leading commercial city throughout Europe and America.

The information will be collected and arranged by Mr. Vann; and the publisher is determined that neither expense or trouble will be spared to reader the work worthy of the former editions, which have uniformly received the highest encomitums from the subscribers and the Press.

All communications respecting the Directory to be adressed to the compiler, Mr. VANN, Mort's passage, George-street.

By order of the Mortgagees, Official and Trade Assigness On TUESDAY, 20th February next. GEORGE WALKER has received instructions from the mortgagees and assignees in the abovenamed cetate to sell by public suction, on TUBBDAY, the 20th February next, at 12 o'clock none, at Tuckerman's Royal Hotel, Market street,

The undermentioned very valuable premises and building sillotment, viz.:—

at Tuckerman's Royal Hotel, Market-street,
The undermentioned very valuable premises and building allotment, vir.:

All that piece or parcel of land situate in Market-street, Mudges, having a frontage to that street of 126 feet, with a depth of 132 feet, and being portions of allotments Nos. 9 and 10 of section No. 11, on which is erected TWO handsome and substantial two-story brick BUILDINGS for abops and dwellings, with plate glass fronts, containing four and five rooms such, including abops 19 feet 6 inches by 19 feet each, with collars underneath, two brick kitchess of two rooms such, with brick oven, &c.; yard enclosed with a good paling fance; also, TWO small SHOPS of three rooms each, built of brick, one of which has a baker's oven attached to it.

These premises are stiffereent in the occupation of respeciable tenants, and are likely always to continue sosituated, as they are in the very centre of the business portion of the town; the present rental, which is very low, is $182 a-year. A portion of the allotment, which is not yet built upon, has a frontage of 60 feet to Market-street, situated between the large and small shops; it is very valuable, and if some shops, &c., were built upon it, they would let immediately at a rent profitable to the propristor.

Capitalists and others in search of a good investment ought not to let this opportunity pass of securing a first class one. The preparty will seldom or news be without a tenant, thereby always eccuring the fortunate purchaser a quick and certain return for his money; and as it is in the market for positive and unrecevered sale, there will be a good chance of buying it much under its value.

Full particulars can be ascertained on applying to the Auctioneer, at his office, Court-street, where a plan of the promises can be seen.

Terms at sale.

dehaveholders from any right to any subsequent profit, or any interest in the subsequent surplus divided under the resolution of March 1851. It seems to me of the essence of participation in profits, that there should be cancurrent liability to losses. I think, therefore, that upon the facts and equilies of the case the resolution of 1851 could not have been successfully impugaed, even if the plaintiffs had come to this Court for that purpose immediately after the resolution was passed.

I am not aware of any express decision upon the present point; but upon the general principles of the law of partnership, which, of course, governs the shareholders of the joint stock companies, as between themselves, when the cempany's deed does not provide for any specific paint, I am clearly of opinion that a shareholder who accepts a bons fide indemnity, or a release from his co-shareholders of all inture liability, thereby necessarily and by equitable implication, precludes himself not only from all participation in profits, but from any subsequent beneficial interest in the partnership assets.

It has, indeed, been argued, that the delay in filing the present bill has been satisfactorily accounted for by the persenal demeanour of Mr. Gilohrist in looking facroly at Mr. Berry's centinued dread of the enforcement of the serve facias. But if he had come to this Court for an injunction on any account similar to this bill, he would have the injunction extended to the serve facias as easily as to any other inaquitable conduct, of the defendants, if any. It seems to ma, therefore, that such arguments are allogether unworthy of the attention of this Court, either as allogether unworthy of the stention of this Court, either as allogether unworthy of the interval from 1851 to 1856.

DENILIQUIN CIRCUIT COURT. (Abridged from the Pastoral Times.)
WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 24.
BEFORE SIF ALFRED STEPHEN, C.J.

Wednesday, January 24.

Before Sir Alpred Staphen, C.J.

Thomas Johnstone, otherwise Maori Tom, was charged with committing this offence on the person of Annie Nicholson, at Mouna.

Mr. Blake, assisted by Mr. W. M. Miller, was assigned to the defence of the prisoner.

Sergeant John Hurley deposed to arresting the prisoner about four miles from Moama, on the 27th of September last; he stated his name was Johnstone: was also called Maori Tom. Prosecutrix made a report to the police before he arrested prisoner.

Annie Nicholson deposed that she had been married tweive months, and resided with her husband about four miles on this side of Moama; by direction of her husband she went to Echnes on the 27th September last to engage a bullock driver; she there met with the prisoner and engaged him; she first saw him in the bar of a public-house to which she had gone to make inquiries for a man; prisoner had been drinking, but he was then sober; prisoner said he did not know the way to where she lived, so he accompanied her; they left Echnes about 4 or 5 o'clock; and after going about a mile and a half prisoner put his arm round her, and said "Give me a kins, old girl." The witness them with great volability gave in detail how he fully accomplished his purpose. Tho whe threatened to take her Hie—to drive a knife through her—and how he fully accomplished his purpose. The particulars are, however, of so flithy a character as to be totally unfit for publication.

John Nicholson deposed that he was the husband of the witness Annie Nicholson. He sent his wife to Echnou to engage a man; on returning home on the 37th September, something was said to him by his wife and by the sawyers, and he went directly to Moama for the publice.

To his Honor: Married her in Melbourne; knew her in Somersetabire in England; he (witness) sent for her to come out.

To his Honor: Married her in Melbourne; knew her in Someretshier in England; he (witness) sent for her to come out.

Rimund Newbold deposed that he was a surgeon. Recollected seeing Mrs. Nicholson the day after the occurrence: examined her, and the only marrie of violence on her person was a slight swalling on the of her uniquence on her person was a slight swalling on the of her uniquence on her person was a slight swalling on the first hard to have a surgeon was a slight swalling on the first hard to have a surgeon was a slight swalling on the first hard to have a been was a surgeon was a surgeon was lead to swalling upon them to take the whole circumstances of the case into consideration, from her ginning to end, and not find the pirsoner guilty unless he was so in their opinion beyond all reasonable doubt.

His Honor then summed up, and the jury retired to consider their verdict.

After a somewhat protracted absence, not being able to agree, they were discharged.

Prisoner was remanded to gool, the Crown Prosecutor stating he should leave the matter in the hands of the Attorney-General.

It was understood that in the event of the Attorney-General acquisecting, prisoner would be discharged on finding two sureties in £20 each, to be of good behaviour for twelve months.

To twelve months,

NANELAUGHTEM.

John Ryan appeared to his bail, and was charged with killing — Todd, alias Scotty, on the Lachlan.

Mr. Blake appeared for the defines.

From the evidence it appeared that prisener was in charge of hawking goods; deceased was with him. Deceased bast a borse, and prisoner told him to desist. Deceased, with an open knife in his hand, rushed at prisoner, who, taking up the dray propetick, knocked him down. Deceased got up, rushed again, and again was knocked down. This was repeated four times, prisoner always recenting in the same place. Prisoner's statement admitted the facts, and a shepherd deposed to them.

His Honor summed up, remarking that, although self-here deposes to tasm.

His Honer summed up, remarking that, although self-defence was justifiable, the law required a man to retreat from his assailant.

The jury, without leaving the box, returned a verdict of not guilty, and prisoner was discharged.

MANALAUGHTER.

Richard B. Southey, on ball, was charged with killing Oliver Griffiths, at Balranald, on the 27th December, 1865.

MANGATORTER,

Richard B. Southey, on ball, was charged with killing Oliver Griffiths, at Balranald, on the 27th December, 1866.

Mr. Blake conducted the defence.

The evidence in this case was exceedingly clear. Prisoner, a quiet, respectable man, had been insulted and challenged to fight by deceased at Balranald, where they both resided. He refused to fight, but at last a message being brought him that Griffiths was stripped and ready, prisoner went to him, and after a few rounds deceased fell over a log, was picked up, carried into the house and died the same night. His Honor said, prisoner being engaged in an illegal act, was snawerable for the consequences. He should not have fought, but allowance must be made for the repeated challenges. Perhaps prisoner thought that by once fighting the man he could enjoy quiet afterwards.

Prisoner was found gulity, and sentenced to pay a fine of Thomas Robinson, charged with stealing £8, the property of Robert Mills, at Hay, on the 8th of December last, was found guilty, and sentenced to two years' hard labour on the roads.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 25.

Herbert Critchley pleaded guilty to stealing a pocket-book, containing £70, the property of Basil Rout, and stated that he had found it. His Honor, in sentencing prisoner to two years' hard labour, said that he did not believed in light sentences, and hoped his leniency would not be misplaced. He was quite willing to sedmit that prisoner found the money, but he then knew to whom it belonged, and he was as much guilty as if he had directly stolen it.

LARCENY.

stolen it.

Ah Tack accused of stealing a watch from Tommy Ah Gunn, was ably defended by Mr. Blake, duly instructed, and a verdict of not guilty was returned.

TFALING AND ARCEIVING.

Abraham Ross and Alexander Red were remanded to the general sessions, Mrs. Landour, from whom the property was alleged to have been stolen, being too ill to attend.

perty was alleged to have been stolen, being too ill to attend.

STEALING FROM THE PERSON.

Francis Scott was charged with stealing at Mount Murchisep. Two witnesses, J. Gibbs and J. R. Staart, not being in attendance, their recognizances were forfeited; execution to go.

His Honor, in discharging the jury, said that previous to his coming here he had heard favourable mention of them, but new he had much pleasure in adding his personal testimony to the general opinion that he had before heard expressed. He hoped that the present inadequate arrangements for their comfort would be improved, and the ourthouse enlarged and rooms added to it. He quite agreed with the verdicts that had been given. There was one case not yet decided; on that, therefore, he would pass no opinion, but would than the juries for the general attention and care they had exercised in delivering their vardicts.

The Court then adjourned sizes die.

The Crown Prosecutor conducted the following cases:—
Edward Moulding, convicted on Monday last of stealing, was centenced to be imprisoned in Sydney gool, with hard labour, for twelve months.
John Callaghan, William Homer, and John Mulhollund, were convicted on Monday of stealing. Callaghan and Mulholliabd were severally sentenced to be imprisoned in Sydney

CENTRAL POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY.

BEFORE their Worships the Police Magistrate, Mesers.
Day, Jolly, G. Hill, Oatley, Cohen, and Spence.

Of ten prisoners brought before the Court, three were remanded and four were discharged. One of the latter was a man named Charles Young, apprehended yesterday by detective Swainson on board the steamer Telegraph, from Brisbane, on the authority of a telegram, dated Brisbane, Jamasry 31, stating that Charles T. Young M'Donald is there charged with bigamy, prisoner agreeing with the description given of the man M'Donald. Prisoner, on apprehension, declared that he was never married. Swainson prayed that prisoner might be remanded for sight days, to afford time for the arrival of the warrant from Brisbane, Mr. Forster, for the prisoner, contraded that a telegram is no authority, whether true or false, upon which their Worships can legally detain a man in custody, an argument which their Worships admitted, and discharged the prisoner from custody.

Elizabeth Prustord was summarily convicted of having stolen seven pairs of stockings of the value of 6t. 3d., the property of John Humphries, and was sentened to pay a penalty of 20u., or to be imprisoned seven days.

Sophis Ford, having threatmend to take the life of James Menzies, was required to enter into a recognizance, with Meureley, to keep the peace, or in default to be imprisoned Sephis Ford, having threatened to take the life of James Menzies, was required to enter late a recognizance, with aureties, to keep the peace, or in default to be imprisoned fourteen days.

William Clarke was sentenced to be imprisoned three months, on conviction of having stolen six portemonnaics, of the value of 3s., the property of Frederick Smith.

On the summons paper were twanty-five cases. Thomas Chapman was fined 26 for having in a public place made use of indecent language. Patrick Mullally was fined 20s. fer riotous conduct. In Coker v. Cook, a suit for the recovery of wages, an order was made for the amount claimed. Five persons were fined 5s. each, and two 2s. 6d. each far brasches of the Glebe Municipal by-laws. Thomas Moore was found guilty of having during prohibited hours driven eight head of cattle, being neither milch nor working cattle, on the Abstoler Road, and was fined in for each head. Four cases were postposed, and the rest (cine) were not prosecuted.

The ROSTER.—Riesers. Wreach and Bray have been summened for Bench duty on Saturday.

WATER POLICE COURT.

WATER POLICE COURT.
FRIDAY.
BEFORE the Water Police Magistrate, with Mr. J. I.
Kettle.
John Williams and John Edwards, seamen of the British ship City of Sydney, were convicted of embezzling five casks of ale, value £15, part of the chrgo of that vessel. Shortly after leaving the Downs, the mate, on information from the carpenter, went into the hold and found five casks of bottled ale broken open and only a few bottle left in one cask; be discovered two fall bottles in the chest of Edwards, who accused Williams of going down the hatch to get them. The latch, which was battened down, was never found open. Williams had given one of the seamen two bottles of ale bearing the same brand as those in cargo, and two were found in Williams's chest. The Bench ordered prisoners to pay out of their wages the amount of loss sustained, and sentenced them also to be imprisoned and kept to hard labour for twelve weeks.

Margaret Shechan, far violently assaulting Emma Howson, of George-sirest, by striking her on the nose with a bucket, was fined £3, in default of payment to be imprisoned for one month.

William E. Dalrymple was charged with obtaining goods under false pretences. He was defauded by Mr. Greer. In the evidence for the prosecution, it appeared that he represented to Edward Pugh, tailor, that he was a captain in the army, and related to Mr. G. E. Dalrymple, M.P., Queensland, and gave an order for clothes to the value of £23, which on the ground of prisoner's eletement were supplied to him at the Royal Hotel, but never received the money-prisoner's cheque on the Oriental Bank being dishenoured. Prisoner produced in Court his commission (dated 1864) as an ensign in the New Zealand Millits. Matilda Howes, who was called for the defence, deposed that she had known prisoner in New Zealand. He was now Captain in the Taranaki Millita, and on leave of absence. Prisoner was made for the payment of 8a. the amount claimed, with costs.

NEW SHEFFIELD.

[FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.;]

COPIOUS showers of rain serial visited this district on Friday and Saturday last, filling all the water-holes for miles round, saturating the earth, and making mountain rivuleis and creeks flow in a manner entirely unknown in this neighbourhood for months past.

On Wednesday, the 24th utimo, the New Sheffield Young Men's Mutual Improvement Society held the adjourned general meeting in the National schoolroom; the vice-president (Mr. R. Morris, senior), presided. By-laws, &c., were passed, and arrangements made for commencing proceedings. On the ensuing Wednesday accordingly the members met, when (in the unavoidable absence of the president) the vice-president opened the institution by delivering an inaugural address, in this course of which he commented on the progress of similar institutions, and the manifold advantages which were to be derived therefron, if the members would only work together in unity and concord. Mr. Barrie followed, and, in a chort and well-received speech, related his experiences during his connection with associations of a like nature, pointing out the beasefile had tesped, and the improvement his charster had sustained by such connection. Messers. Kent, M'Lean, and Mitchell also made a few remarks, and the meeting then closed by singing the doxology.

New Beffield presented quite a holiday aspect on Anniversary Day. The opening match of the New Sheffielders was highly commended, their play being remarkably steady and good, taking into consideration that they had had but a fortnight's practice (i.e., since the establishment of the club). The total score was sixty-one. The Mittageng Glub had only fifty to get to win, and they came of victorious with innings the players as the own of the New Sheffielders who accord the remarkably steady and good, taking into consideration that they had had but a fortnight's practice (i.e., since the establishment of the club). [FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.]

ANHIVERSARY DAY.—This day, which will probably for centuries to come be duly homoured by all who may be politically connected with Sydney, was observed yesterday. The Albert Cricket Club had made some admirable arrangoments for matches, by telling off two elevens to play with similar numbers from the Recky River and Seumace. The people turned cut with spirit, and all the business places were closed to afford a greeral opportunity for witnessing what was expected, and what nurned out to be in one instance, the best match ever played in the northern districts. The first eleven of the Alberta were the picked men of the club, and they chose what was represented to be, and what probably is, the other best eleven for the district—the El Dorados of the Rocky River. Another eleven of the Alberta were appointed to play eleven from Saumares. The day was beautifully fine, and although sometimes very hot, it was occasionally tempered with a cooling breeze from the north-east. The matches were played on the rescourse, and well attended by viatiors from the surrounding neighbourhood. That between the Alberta were little prepared to find such proficients in the game as the men from Saumares. Droved themselves to be; the latter beating their opponents by il wickets, having taken a second innings to secone a decome. The first two men carried out their bats. An excellent hunch was provided by Mr. G. D. Cooper, of the Wellington Inn. This was rather a sumptuous affair, and notwithstanding the heat of the day ample justice was done to the visates. Mr. E. Baker occupied the chair, but no speeches were made, or toasts given.

Our readers who have heard so much of "Head Centre O'Mahony," may wish to know something about a man that plays so prominent a part among our countrymen on this continent who are leagued together in the Fenian organisation. During a sojourn of a couple of months, last fall, in New York, we heard from intelligent and reliable sources enough concerning Mr. John O'Mahony to satisfy the most devoted and enthusiastic admirer of the gallant "Colonel" that there was a screw loose, that there was a former of the gallant "Colonel" that there was a something rotten in the state of Denmark," that, in a word, the "Head Centre" has few traise of character and no commendatory antecedents to fit him for or entitle him to the position which he holds. The following letter, written by a gentleman who is well acquainted with the career of "Colonel O'Mahony," and with the facts which he states, and who is moreover a patriotic Irishman in the true sense of the word, while it serves to confirm what we have already known, will also throw some light upon the history of the "Fenian" Chief and on the movement generally:—

"To the Editor of the Conadian Freeman,"

"New York, August 30th, 1865.

"Dear Sir,—I have several times thought of writing to you on the spread of Fenianism, but as there was a mere probability that during the late troubles here England was likely to get entangled in that case Ireland might derive some benefit from any organisation of Ireland, I feel it my duty to assist in exposing this stupendous swindle—Fenianism. In order to do so, I shall commence with a short biographical sketch of the man in whose fertile brain the whole scheme originated—Head Centre John O'Mahony.

Pharmaon's Serpents a Poisonous Toy.—Lately, a meeting of the Pharmaceutical Society of Great Britain was held at Edinburgh, and in the course of the proceedings the following communication was read from Dr. Stevenson Macadam on the poisonous ingredients in Pharaoh's serpents:—"The chemical toy, which is now sold largely in many shops in this city, at prices ranging from 3d to 1s. each, is composed of a highly dangerous and poisonous substance, called the sulpho-cyanide of mercury. The material is a double-headed poisoned arrow, for it contains two poisonous ingredients, viz., mercury and sulpho-cyanic acid, either of which will kill. Experiments have been made by me upon the lower animals, and I have found that one-half of a 6d Pharaoh's serpent is sufficient to poison a large-sized rabbit in an hour and three-quarters. A less dose, also, destroys life, but takes longer to do so. The toy, therefore, is much too deadly to be regarded as merely amusing; and seeing that it can be purchased by every schoolboy, and be brought home to the nursery, it is rather alarming to think that there is enough of poison is copied in the scripent is covered with tinfoil, and much resembles in outward appearance a piece of chocolate or a comfit. I hope that the rage for Pharaoh's serpents will die out in Edinburgh without any disastrous consequences, though such have occurred in other placese but it is certainly an anomaly in the law of the kingdom that a grain of arsenic cannot be purchased except under proper restrictions, and that such articles as Pharaoh's serpents sold in any quantity, and be purchased by say schoolboy or child."—Scotsman.

SATURDAY FEBRUARY 3, 1866.

In another column a letter will be found signed "Mercator," by a member of one of our oldes firms, which we strongly recommend to the notice of our readers. It sets out clearly the absurdity of that interpretation of the law with which the commerce of this colony is now smitten. The course taken by the Collector is alleged to be the result of superior instructions. It was indeed remarkable that this direction should have been given in the absence of the only Law-officer of the Crown. We may assume, therefore, that in the notice issued by Mr. DUNCAN, before the late Ministry left office, he was directed by some adviser more dis-tinguished for physical force than legal lore. The form of the notice was remarkable, and may well attract some animadversion. We do not know upon what authority any person can pro-fess to gather the intentions of the Legislature except from the language employed, and from the general and pre-existing laws by which that the general and pre-existing laws by which that language is directed to be construed. This, however, would be of small consequence if no action had been taken upon it. But Mr. Duncan was in a position to make his views of law of very great importance to the community, and certainly he has this measure of justification, that he seems to be sustained in his construction by the present Law-officers of the Crown. The question will officers of the Crown. The question will soon, we understand, be submitted to the Supreme Court. A dispute has arisen as to the mode of valuing a quantity of salt. This article, though perishable, is not liable to so great uncertainties of price as many other kinds of merchandise. The article, therefore, is a very proper one upon which to try the question. The facts will not be so liable to error or dispute. The question can be put simply, whether duty is to be paid upon the cost of the article to the importer, or whether it is to be determined by the state of the colonial market. The Government raise the market price on the spot of good already imported, but upon which no duty had been paid, and they make that enhancement the basis of the duties they charge. Undoubtedly the mercantile effects of any particular law are not available objections to its provisions, but it does seem to be a remarkable fact that an in-terpretation of the law should take the value of goods upon which no duty has been paid, but which value is enhanced by the creation of a duty itself, as the basis upon which duty to be paid shall be calculated.

When colonial surhorities depart from the customs of a country like England, they ought to look well to the consequences of their procedure, because it may be inferred, without much danger of error, that no system has existed in Great Britain for a long period of which ought to have weight in all new com-munities. Accordingly, every step in this new method of levying taxes is found to be fraught with difficulty and mischief. The reasons fo valuing goods upon the invoice, and not upon the uncertain prices of a large territory and fluctuating market, are not hard to be found. For example, goods arrive in this colony, and while still in the ships are sold by the importer. At what stage and place is their value to be ascertained? According to Mr. Dungan's theory, their value is not to be their market price as between the importer and the first purchaser, but it is within the competence of he Collector to raise their value according to their worth at any point of the territory until they be passed into consumption. In the port of Sydney, for example, some articles are worth 11; at Echuca, they are worth £1 5s.; at the Clarence, £1 7s. 6d.; at other seaboard places, £1 10s.; and in the most inaccessible parts of the territory, £2. In some articles a much wider difference exists. According to the construction of the Act, there is nothing whatever to preclude the imposition of duty upon any one of these bases of valuation. The Collector has explicitly and formally refused to take the value of goods as they have been actually sold in the harbour, because not then encumbered with the various charges of carting, warehousing, and Customs' agencies. How can any reliable valuation be obtained under such circumstances? It is only necessary to point out the operation of such a scheme to prove that it never could have been contem-plated by a sane Legislature? No machinery which the Government can set in motion will conduct this valuation with fairness, or take it out of the category of chance and favouritism. It is remarkable how rapidly fraud organises itself, and we cannot imagine a more advantageous appointment than that which shall sus-pend the profits of merchants upon the decisions of a valuator who, at discretion, may or may not accept the estimate of the importer. It is not to be assumed that in the presence of temptations which have broken down the honesty of men in all countries, and tended more than anything to the abrogation of ad talorem duties, probity should be so robust in New South Wales as to defy all allurements. If we can judge of the effect of climate upon character, and it is to this origin all our infirmities are attributed, for we have the best of hearts—we do not feel at all assured that under such a system, and beneath such skies, no bribes will be tendered and none accepted.

Subjoined to the letter of "Mercator" in another part of the paper will be found the clauses of the Act in South Australia, showing the practice in that colony. In the United States of America the system is to charge according to the invoice, without adding anything for other costs—a provision evidently intended to simplify the question of value. This is obviously an improvement upon the British practice, it being just as easy to raise the rate of the ad ralorem duty as to retain the somewhat capri-cious charge of 10 per cent.

Whoever will take the pains to examine the clause in our Customs Regulation Act, given on Thursday, will see that the Collector is bound in conscience to accept the declaration of the merchant unless he believes it to be false. The clause prescribes the method by which value shall be ascertained, and assumes that as general rule all parties will act in good faith, and that the rule will be to rely upon the honesty of the persons maxing the declaration. The other clauses come into operation only when a reasonable suspicion exists that the declaration is false. To protect the Customs from loss there are prescribed certain methods of proredure which are in the first instance meant to ubmit the truth of the declaration to test All these steps are provisoes which are called for only after the clause prescribing and ad-mitting the declaration is doubted; and it is clear that no step can be taken after the declaraclear that no step can be taken after the declaration unless "upon value and examination of such articles by the proper officer of the Customs, it shall so appear to him that such articles are not valued at the true price and value thereof." In this case the first step is to call upon the party to declare upon oath that he believes the invoice price is the current value of the articles at the place from which the articles are imported. Having made this oath, unless the Collector still conscientiously disputes it, the goods are to be scientiously disputes it, the goods are to be passed upon the invoice price with 10 per cent. added. If, however, disputing the oath of the importer or his agent, the Collector still be-lieves he has not ascertained the full value, he can then nominate two competent persons who themselves upon oath must declare the value of those articles, and this is taken to be the true value. Thus a succession of rules is laid down, all having one object—to ascertain the true value of the articles subject to duty, and no addi-tional step can be taken but in gross violation of the spirit of the law and of the duties of the Collector, unless under the local separate step is scientious conviction that each separate step is ecessary to acquire a knowledge of the of the goods imported. To set aside all these rules is to set aside the law. When it is said that to the value so imported at the place of export 10 per cent. shall be added, it is scarcely necessary to show that this provision would be absurd if the valuation did provision would be absurd if the valuation did not proceed upon the price at the place of export. It does not instruct the Collector to inquire the market price on the spot, but to inquire the value at the place of departure, and then add the 10 per cent. upon that amount. This direction would be utterly incongruous if it was not contemplated by the law that the value at the point of departure and the 10 per cent. addition should be real scale on which he duty should be estimated.

In the Act of South Australia, if the importer refuses to pay duties, goods may be sold to the highest bidder; but, out of the proceeds, he is first to be paid the amount of his own valuation, and then the charges of the Customs—whether for duty or otherwise—are to be disposed of.
The remainder, if any, goes to the officers of the Customs and the Crown. But, by the 9th Vic-toria, No. 15, we make the Customs duties a primary charge, and only the overplus is given to the importer—an arrangement which removes the risk from the Customs to the person whose valuation has been disputed, and who is a loser just in proportion as his valuation shall be found true! One would think this law was sufficiently onerous to satisfy even the most bitter enemie

There are, however, other aspects of the dispute which require special attention. It is the duty of the officers of Government, whether Ministers or subordinates, to protect the public revenue; but it is easy for their zeal to run into a pernicious excess. We imagine that all through these transactions the public have much reason to complain. No sooner had the Assembly passed resolutions authorising the tax than the Collector of Customs, professedly acting under instruction, published a commentary upon the law. He seems to have used unaccustomed language, inasmuch as he gave There are, however, other aspects of the dis-

time without being founded upon an experience | the "intention" of Parliament before the entire Legislature had had an opportunity to ex-press an opinion, and being contrary to the prac-tice of former times. Mr. Duncan, no doubt, consulted the Administration, but at all events the interpreters of law for Government ought to be its law officers wherever questions of difficulty arise. Mr. PLUNKETT was absent from the colony, and therefore gave no opinion. The office of Solicitor-General was vacant and it must be therefore assumed that the instructor of the Collector of Customs was some Minister who thought that his great duty was to squeeze as much as possible out of the consumer. When, however, the discussion duty was to squeeze as much as possible out of the consumer. When, however, the discussion took place in the Upper House, and the Attorney-General of that day treated the notice not only as rash and unjustifiable, but simply not only as rash and urjustifiable, but simply absurd, the public seemed to have an assurance of protection. We cannot condemn the House for taking the opinion of its legal members. Surely it is not to be imposed upon a Legislature to deny by special clause the construction of every crazy layman who may choose to set up his our execution intermediate. his own special interpretation. Inconvenient though it may be, it is better that the determi-nation of the question should be referred to the nation of the question should be referred to the Judges. It is, however, alleged, and on such authority as we are bound to admit, that Mr. Durcan refused declarations of value unless the parties submitting them added to the ferm prescribed by law—"in Sydney"! When we look at the whole structure of the 22nd clause, and the oath it imposes in certain cases, we can only stand in astonishment at the temerity of any man, whether lawyer or Collector-whether Attorney-General, or persons acting under his advice— would dare to add to the declaration or oath would dare to add to the declaration or oath words not prescribed by law, and make use of those words to justify a course affecting vital mercantile rights. Under what statute, we ask, is this addition allowed? No doubt, if the intention of the Legislature had been what Mr. Dungan is instructed to assert, these words would have been proper; but they would have been insufficient, because "in Sydney" would only have applied to one port, whereas we have several; and because, for anything we know, the value of goods at Newcastle may be just as proper to fix the duty as anywhere else. But it becomes a very serious question whether any functionary should be permitted, or whether any Government be permitted, or whether any Government should be suffered to command so gross an interference with the forms prescribed by law, and which confess in point of fact that the declaration required by law does not contemplate the interpretation put upon it. Mr. DUNCAN might just as well interpolate the declaration on oath with statements to this effect: " I. Journ SMITH, having full knowledge of the value o these goods-being thoroughly acquainted with the honesty of the parties who have transmitted the invoice—having carefully examined in bulk or sample all the contents of those packages, do hereby declare that they are of such and such) value at the port of Sydney."
We know no reason why such a declaration should not be demanded if an addition so important be within the discretion of the Collector. That he had imposed these words is, however, a confession that the whole course of proceeding is ridiculously illegal.

It is undoubtedly the duty of the merchants o submit the question to the Supreme Court. to submit the question to the Supreme Court. It is not a matter in which they can discharge their consciences towards the consumer by silence and submission. They stand between the producer and the people, and every charge imposed upon them must fall upon the public at large. But the Government itself has a duty too. It is not the business of an Administration to stretch the law—to squeeze out of the people revenue not distinctly authorized by law. people revenue not distinctly authorised by law. The strongest censure has been pronounced upon the Government of Victoria for having threatened suitors that they should be deprived or justice and subjected to rulmous and uncompensated ost. We do not say that if the compensated COSt. We do not say that if the ATTORNEY-GENERAL and his colleagues think Mr. DUNCAN right they are not to be commended for upholding his position; but those who choose to compliment their fidelity to the revenue must do so at the expense of their legal fame. Either it must be admitted that they are very reckless of injustice, or that they have fallen under the influence of marvellous delusions. It will really be some compensation to the public if they are compelled to appear in Court and produce their compelled to appear in Court and produce their compelled to appear in Court and produce their reasons for conclusions at variance, we believe, with the universal convictions of the profession. But one thing they are bound to do—and that is to facilitate the process by which a judicial determination can be obtained. There are forms by which at a very small cost the issue may be at once resolved; there are others within their choice which may throw upon the plaintiffs great expense and produce considerable delay. Men of rather dishonest and narrow minds would think taxation for three months together; but we should be sorry to attribute any such sentiments to our great men. They ought at once to admit the facts of the case and bring the issue to an instant determination. We shall then have the Judges' law against the Collector's law, and perhaps—though we do not think it pro-balle—the result may prevent a repetition of that rashness and violence which threatens the commerce of the country. The fruits of this ad valorem law are daily developed in the endless quibbles, quarrels, contentions, and mortifications to which it is giving rise. Every day will shew its miserable complexion and disastrous results. We hope that not a single session of Parliament will be allowed to elapse without giving the strongest expression of popular hatred to a system so vile. It is not to be condemned only because it lays a great charge upon the people, but also because it places a heavier burden upon the consumer than it produces income to the Treasury, and pre-eminently because in all its phases and ramifications it tends to degrade the character of the Government and corrupt the morals of the SYDNEY INFIEMARY.—An adjourned annual meeting of the governors and subscribers of the Sydney Infirmary was held yesterday, between the hours of 12 and 3 p.m., for the purpose of electing two honorary physicians and one honorary surgeon. The chair was taken by the Rev. A. Stephen, and the scrutineers were Meers. Coveny and J. Menning. The candidates for the former office were Drs. Brown, Foucart, and Renwick; and for the latter Meers. Bedford and Aaron. The state of the poll was declared at 4 p.m. as follows:—Physicians—Renwick, 229 votes; Brown, 268 votes; Foucart, 138 votes. Surgeon—Bedford, 258 votes; and Aaron, 37 votes. The chairman declared Drs. Renwick and Brown to have been duly elected honorary physicians, and E. S. P. Bedford, Esq., to have been duly elected honorary surgeon.

WATER SUPPLY—STREET WATERING.—A short time since, as our readers are aware, fours were entertained that the cupply of water from Botany and the Lachlan seamps would be insufficient to supply the city if the drought should unfortunately be long-continued; and in view of the probability of such a calamity, the citizens were cautioned against being cardeas or wasterd in the use of the water. The water was also turned off from the city at night, and watering the streets was discontinued. The recent rains, however, having filled up the water reserves at Botany, the fears which led to these precautions have been allayed, and street watering in the city has been resumed.

VOLUNTEER RIYLES.—A moonlight parade of the Sydney Rattalion of Volunteer Ritles was called for yesterday evening, to be considered the Adjutant's monthly parade, but the unfavourable nature of the weather prevented a match out or any evolutions in the field. The men had a good drill, however, in the yard, and were then dismissed. The attendance was very good indeed, there being several hurdred man present.

ACCIDENT.—About a quarter-past 6 yesterday evening, a lad named Robinson, in the employ of Mr. Thompson, stovedore, George-street, met with a severe accident. He was riding a horse down New Fitt-street, with another boy sitting behind him, and by some means lost his balance, and fell, his head striking the ground. He was picked up increasible, and conveyed by the police to the Indirmary. The wound, we understand, although very severe, is not considered dangerous.

LATEST FROM THE GREY RIVER.

WRITING from the South Beach on the 20th ultimo, the special correspondent of the Grey River Argus says.—

There is not much news to report this week from the different diggings along the beach. Nearly all those who have set in to work regularly appear to be attisfied with their returns. Many parties, tired of running about after every runnoured fresh ruse, and sick of the hardships of travelling through the wet bush, have cast anchor on the beach, determined to give it a thorough prospecting, and sick to it as long as they can make £1 per day. I am acquainted with a party of five who have been on the move for the last two months, who set into work near the Teremakan, in ground that had been honey-combed with prospecting bles, but they, by working it systematically in a face, are making over £1 per man per day, although they have to carry the weakhdirt forty yards to water.

There were two small runhes last week in the neighbourheed of the last prospecting elain, south of the Teremakau. At the first, about half a mile up the Teremakau, prospects of half a pennyweight to the dish were obtained; but the payable ground found as yet is very limited. The other runh is situated from two to three miles back from the beach, but the accounts are not encouraging.

About half a mile north of the Toremakau, in the bush, there is a very good diggings, called "Sunday Flat." There are about a hundred men on the ground, and most of them are making handsome wages. Comerford and party of five are, and have been for some time past, washing from five to six ounces per day, and as they have two feet of washdirt and the stripping shallow, they are enabled to keep the box going every day. They expect to have aix months work yet. There is another party, I am oredibly informed, can wash a pound weight each day.

At Sutherland's Rush, one mile north of the Teremakau, nearly all the claims have been paying very well indeed. I believe none of the claims have paid less than from £12 to £20 per man. LATEST FROM THE GREY RIVER.

AD VALOREM DUTIES.

all these matters he is but a servant, and acts under instructions.

I say nothing of the policy or impolicy of the Act, although feeling is strong upon it. Sufficient at present that a majority in the Legislature has passed the Act, and deliherately incurred the risk of losing an intercolonial commerce. A significant comment on the Act and its probable consequences may be found in the price realised for land at Gircular Quay on 28th December efter this bill had passed the Assembly as compared with the price realised a very few months previously.

The majority of the Legislature is not always the majority of the people, as the late appeal to the country on the question of protection showed most unmistakably, and as I believe an appeal to the country on the ad valorem duties would also unmistakably show. Until the opportunity arrives we must submit, only let us have the law administered with as little difficulty and obstruction to commerce as possible.

I am, your obedient servant, MERCATOR.

MELINOUNEN, Prints a year and make the contraction of the prints of the Ent our persistence in this mistake would not have surprised me but for one thing. Where one has got no example to guide, one must just grope in the dark till the proper road is found. But in our case we have not even the excuse of wanting: the example after which we ought to have modelled our land law, for we have in the United States the most trilliant cample the world has ever seen of almost unmixed prosperity, based on the wise use the Government there have made of their waste lands. In the face of that great fact, I would have doubted the correctness of your reasoning, even if I had not (as I think I have) seen any fallacy in it. I would have called to mind how frequently the greatest statesmen have made mistakes in their resconings, when they forgot to base them on the "unanswerable legic of facts," and with the knowledge of what the United States have become by selling good land cheep, I would have declined to believe any reasoning that went to show that we sught to sell our bad land dear, unless an example could be given where the policy your resonmended had been followed by equally brilliant results. Before your reasoning in favour of dear land will hold good, you have to prove that the United States Government have been unjust to the coming inhabitants of the States, in parting with their best lands at (3s.) five shillings per acre; that they would have been richer if they had not tempted thousands of immigrants who have annually landed at New York by the prospect of cheap land, and likewise that the sudden burst of prosperity which has been secured by the "false principle incorporated in their policy," is to be followed by a day in which that policy will work its own revenge. I am happy, Sir, that such a tesk falls to your side of the argument, not to mine, and not having cither your practice or skill in writing. I have to congratulate myself on the ceaser task of pointing out the palpable failure of our own land laws.

I now come to the falsecy which I think runs through all your reasoning. It is th capecities of the two countries, and after them to suit the altered circumstances.

We may put out of question the gold-fields, which are worked alike in both countries, and in both add greatly to their wealth.

In only one industry has the soil of Australia over added materially to the wealth of the country, viz, by the breeding of stock; and though many years failure in farming ought to have proved this, the Governments of the colonies have taken no steps to settle men permanently on the soil in the only occupation that has given a return for the capital invested. I believe that had a country like this fallen into the hands of Americans, they would soon have surrived at the conviction that a different industry would have to be encouraged to the one which has made their own country so flurishing, and have recognised the principle of giving the gratier a large area in fee simple at a low price. They would have altered their land law so far as would have enabled them to cut up the country in much larger sections than they have done in the States. I really doubt if they would have made the price higher than one shilling jer acre.

I often hear it said that a great part of the land in Australia, is worth a pound per acre, and I have been surprised to see that remark in your own columns; but how can it be as to the immigrant when turning aside to America he can get better land for five shillings? Tais is one principal reason why the immigration here has to be so largely essisted. Who that knew the two countries would advise a person of moderate capital, which he wished to invest in farming, to come to Australia, when the States, Canada, or Nova Sextai (in the latter the price of laud has been lowered to 3s. 6d. per acre on purpose to induce immigration) with a cheaper passage, offers so much more tempting a field? To induce such a desirable class of intigerants to turn to this country, you must offer them an area of land large enough to breed stock on, even should he join (as many probably would) the cultivation of

THE BODIES FOUND IN GEORGE-STREET.

To the Editor of the Heraid.

Sir.—Should you think it right to insert any farther communications upon the subject of the poor remnants of mortality found a few weeks ago under the roadway in George-street, I beg to place at your disposal the following extract from a scarce work in my possession, entitled, "The History of New South Wales, including Botany Bay, Port Jackson, Parramatta, Sydney, and all its Dependencies. By George Barrington. 1810." "On the 2nd July (1799), a horrid murder was effected on Mr. Samuel Clode, one of the missionaries from Clabetic. This act of barbarity was committed at the Brickfields in the hut of one Thomas Jones.

"Suspicion falling upon four persons, they were appro"Suspicion falling upon four persons, they were spprahorded, and three—Thomas Junes (a sodder), his wife, and John Albury—were, on the clearest evidence, convicted John Albury—were, on the clearest evidence, convicted and sentenced to death. They were executed, on the 6th, on the spot where the murder was committed. The house was then pulled down and burned, and the bodies of the two men were hung in chains near the place; the woman's was delivered for dissection to the surgeon."

This would seem to be the matter alluded to by your correspondent "Old Times."

To the Editor of the Herald.

Sir.—Your Campbelltown correspondent, "Old Times," in his endeavour to elucidate the fact relative to the two coffine lately exhumed in George-street South, is not quite correct in some minor particulars, the whole of which I learned many years age from an eyectiness of the execution of the malefactors, and which, briefly, were—that the victim of their crime was a missionary (not a person, as is sileged) named Clode (I believe Samuel), who arrived in the ship Duff. The murder was perpetrated in a small mean dwelling occupied by the murderers—of whom Clode was a guest for the night, and had been very kind to them—on a spot now covered by St. Andrew? Cathedral (proper). The perpetrators were a man named Elberry and a woman named Jones (not Jones and his wife, as stated), who were living together, and who left two infant girls, orphans, whom the Government provided for.

Zo the Editor of the Hereid.

Sin, —Mr. George Sirkitt, of Hedfern, who has been a constant donor to the Museum for years past, presented about a dozen carp (Cyprinus) which he said had been captured in the Botany swamps, informing me at the same time that large numbers of this valuable fish had been destroyed accidentally a few weeks ago. I hope that the authorities who have jurisdiction over the swamps near Botany will take the necessary steps to prevent any further wholesale destruction, and as many of your readers may wish to know who car bunefactor is, I beg to state that his Excellency the Governor put four dezen carp into the Botany reservoir, on the 14th April. 1865, of which the fishes at present swarming in the creeks and lagoons connected with the reservoir must be the progeny.

PRINCE ALBERT'S MONUMENT.

To the Editor of the Herald.

Str.—A great deal of dissatisfaction appears to exist amongst the public generally that so much delay has taken place in erecting Prince Albert's monument. As the committee of management appears desirons of raising the funds for its completion by small subscriptions, why not give the public at ence an opportunity of subscribing in the manage proposed? I would suggest that about forty boxes be distributed at the corner of the principal streets and thoroughfaries, with a pleased indicating the object, and thus efford a convenient opportunity for collecting the amount required.

"HIGHWAYMEN OF THE ROAD."

To the Editor of the Hereid.

Sir.,—Surely there never was a community who submit to tanation so quietly as the New South Welchmen. Tea, sugar, grog, package and ad valorem, in saidition to numicipal rates and toll-bers.

Now I always have cheerfully contributed my share, and shalt oxitime to do so until our finances are once more in a more cheering state; but pray let me inquire why I cannot have my afternoot," a ride in our charming suburbs without having to pay toll—frequently desche tell. I could easily understend that these were necessary previous to the establishing of suburban municipalities, but as every main drive is now the main street of a municipality to which I and other owners of land contribute, why should not all there read trusts be abolished?

Everybody known what a delightful drive we have to Randwick, and thence in full view of the coesa to Waverley; but for this we must pay double toil, two shillings—one shilling to the Randwick Trust, and another to the South liced Road Trust.

Let us see what they have done in London.
"At a very early hour in the morning of November 1st,—at as early an hour indeed, as operations under the provisions of the Act of Parliament could be commenced—there was a great alsughter of toll-gates on the Surrey side of the Thames. Directly after the 31st of October had passed, measures were at once taken for the renoval of sixty-one of thesefgrates, and by the time ordinary passengers were on the roads the next morning they had disappeared, and horse men and drivers could proceed where they liked along 10s miles of hitherto taxed way without being overy now and then pulled up by 'the highwaymen of the road."

Cannot we do likewise?

SYDNEY LABOUR MARKET.

W. Brows.—The copious fall of rain which has visited many districts of the colony will induce activity in the labour market by improving the demand for gardeners, farming men, and outdoor labourers generally, who are numerous in their daily attendance for situations. Mechanics, storckeepers, clerks, and totors, also are considerably in access of demand. Female servants possessing experience and good character are in request. Situations are accepted by some classes of servants at a lower rate of wages.—February 2nd.

(From the Mark Lane Express, November 27.)

A Burs Book is proverbially hard reading, and many an honorable gendleman has gradually sunk into a confirmed bere from too close a study of such continuous question and answer. Even the evidence so recently taken upon the origin and nature of the Cattle Plague, as now just published, can scarcely be regarded as any exception in this way, the more particularly as the great mass of the testimony has already been anticipated. We know pretty well what Professor Simonds, Professor Brown, and the whole host of Veterinarians will have to say and advise, rom having already read this in print, or heard it in person. The meetings held by the market people and the city of London have been as regularly reported; and when Mr. John Giblett is invited to give his opinion, he complacently refers to his letter in the Times, as the embodiment of his views on the subject. Mr. John Clayden, again, has made a digest of his own evidence in the speech he delivered at the Farmers Club, and Mr. Arithur Helps has told us from time to time all the Government has been doing, although, as a matter of form, it appears to have been deemed necessary to call this gentleman before the commissioners. Indeed, about the most interesting page in the book is that which gives a list of the witnesses examined, the first impression one gathers from this being how terribly the inquiry was overlaid with veterinarians, as how few practical farmers it was thought it to summons. There were Professor Simonds, Professor Brown, Mr. W. Ernes, Professor Gerlack, Mr. Priestman, Mr. William Smith, Mr. Thomas Well, Mr. James Cowie, Mr. George Pegg, Mr. William Simmonds, Mr. Lockwood, Professor Dick from Edinburgh, Mr. R. L. Hunt from Birmingham, and some two or three others of mere or less notoriety; while the medical profession itself was represented by Mr. Simon, Dr. Tripe, Dr. Aldis, Dr. Whitmore, Mr. Ellison, and Mr. Savis. On behalf of "the trade" the Commissioners had up in turn Mr. Honck, Mr. Gheltt, Mr. Charles Hicks, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Swan of Edinburgh, M

"Then you would have the stock that are in the grass lands now starved, and our parnips might rot in the mean time?" "You must do the best you can with your turnips; and you had better have your turnips rot than have your beasts die; but I do not think that starvation would follow, because I think there is such an abundance of grass and feed this year that if ever there was a season when this plun could be adopted this is that very year." "What would be the harm of allowing the Metropolitan Market to be open, provided that all stock that went in there alive should not leave London?" "That would do very great injustice to the sender of cattle. You would be putting the whole trade of England into the hands of the London butchers; and I believe that if you look at the returns, you will see that the London butchers are now making more out of this cattle disease than any other class of men living." However much or little this advice may be acted upon, to Mr. Clayden must be given the credit of opening the onslaught on that ill-used race of men, the London butchers. Mr. Owen Wallis is in much the same mind, and thinks that "the only available means of stopping the spread of the disease will be by closing the markets and fairs throughout the country; though, under very strict regulations, the traffic in fat stock might be continued." The more recent Orders in Council office, this morning, recommend the closing of all store markets for a time, and it will be seen that the committee of the Farmers' Club, who had an interview with Sir George Grey, at the Privy Council Office, this morning, recommend the closing of all store markets for a time, and the slaughter of all stock for food where sold or landed.

Notwithstanding the unsatisfactory trial, as so far reported from Norfolk, it will be seen, in another part of our paper, that Mr. Duckham cites some cures by the homeopathis method, so that the new association starts well wit

THE CATTLE PLAGUE—ITS EXTENSION

AND REMEDY.

(To the Editor of the Mark Lane Express.)

Sir.—It daily becomes a subject of anxious inquiry in the provinces as to how long will the Lords of the Privy Council continue to countenance the present fruitful source of extending the ravages of that most virulent of all known diseases, "the cattle plague," by giving the discretionary power to local authorities of keeping open or closing the markets and fairs within their jurisdiction. So long as such a system is continued, so long must we despair of any other than the extension of this direful malady, masmuch as the local authorities, either from a false feeling of local interest or delusive security, or a supineness to the general interest of the country, almost make it a sine qua non that the disease shall have appeared in their locality before they put in force the powers vested in them of closing the markets.

The vractical effect of such a system is, that markets and fairs being closed in unhealty districts, and kept open in healthy ones, the stock from all parts is sent to the healthy districts to meet those markets and fairs; and thus markets which were previously of comparatively triding importance are become great weekly marts.

The experience of the past week in this country has paratively triting importance are become great weekly marts.

The experience of the past week in this county has done much to confirm the statements made by homospathists respecting the curable nature of the disease. Mr. Dent, one of the sufferers—and I am thankful to say he is, I believe, the only sufferer at the present moment in the county, the other herds attacked having been entirely swept away—after trying several kinds of supposed remedies without effect, resolved to try the homospathic system; the result is he has saved three cows and two calves under that treatment, and I trust in [God's mercy he will continue to be equally successful with the remaining portion of his sick animals. His loss is about £1000. He has buried sixty-two. The other sufferers have lost about £300 worth; and this all through the introduction of a bull from that hot-bed of the disease, the Metropolitan Cattle Market.

THE PREDISPOSITION TO THE CATTLE

THE PREDISPOSITION TO THE CATTLE PLAGUE.

To the Editor of the Mark Lane Express.

Sir.—As in most things in this world, there surely is, to use a homely phrase, a good deal of humbug in much that is said and done in reference to the rinderpest. The Times every two or three days has a grand leading article on the subject; but I have never seen in any of them anything practical or useful, but mainly slip-alop criticism and vague verbiage—as we farmers say, "much cry and little wool." Many of the letters on the same subject that have appeared in that journal must surely have been paid for as advertisements, or else the editor's discernment must be of the minutest. Then we have had the Government, Professors Simonds and Gamgee, the Royal Agricultural Society, and, lastly, the Cattle Plague Commissioners, from whom, together or separately, have proceeded three different reports, containing much useful information, combined, however, I am sorry to say, with a good deal of "stuff," together with much matter beyond the comprehension of many farmers and owners of stock, with many impracticable recommendations, causing some illwill and contempt.

As regards the Cattle Plague Commission, I was in horse that some of the existers when rounds have not have a supersoned.

received no answer; therefore, I fear he also had neglected salt.

I have alluded to the long and wearisome reports of Dr. Thudicum and the Cattle Plague Commissioners. Both, however, have a redeeming point, viz., a short paragraph of practical advice as to prevention, relating to cleanliness, good and wholesome food, water, drainage, and housing, but, most singular to relate, all mention whatever of salt is omitted. The same is the case in the useful advice published by the Royal Agricultural Society and by Professor Simonds. Yet I am quite satisfied that these gentlemen and the Society will readily admit that all the above requsites of health may be carefully attended to, and yet, if the animals do not obtain a sufficient quantity of salt, they will be unhealthy in proportion to take deficiency, and pro tante disposed to take the infection.

There is an aristocracy of animals as well as of will be unhealthy in proportion to the deficiency, and pro tanto disposed to take the infection.

There is an aristocracy of animals as well as of human beings. When we hear of the cholera or the typhus fever breaking out in the unhealthy parts of towns amongst the poor, a general panic is not created in the wealthy classes. Why? Because the latter believe that they are far removed from the contagion, and are not predisposed to it by bad air or diet. Thus I compare some cattle to the poor of towns—the former are predisposed to the epidemic by various kinds of illtreatment and mismanagement arising from ignorance, stupidity, or inhunanity, in some instances through poverty of the owners of lake economy. Far more pains and trouble are taken to get up cattle insurance clubs, which can only have the effect of distributing losses and making the insured more careless, than to do anything with a view to moderate the above evils. I know, from upwards of two hundred inquiries made both in this and other counties, that the farmer who gives his cattle access to sait regularly, so that they may take as much as nature prompts them, is an exception to the general rule. On the other hand, some still indulge in such practices as periodical bleedings and purgings to keep of quarter-ill (or, as it is called here, "being struck"), after which terrible weakening process they will expose the poor victims in fields,

The Howcopatric Trial in Northwich.—At the meeting of the Norfolk Cattle Plague Association on Saturday, Mr. Forrester made a lengthened statement as to the results which had attended the homeopathic treatment attempted by Mr. Moore. There was a difference of opinion as to the animals proposed to be placed on the trial register, but Mr. Moore's objections were at the utmost against three animals only. Mr. Moore wished to have several animals put upon the register which Messrs. Smith and Wells objected to as not being sufficiently developed cases; but inasmuch as these animals were not thereby deprived of homeopathic treatment, the question of their recovery or death was not affected by the course adopted. It was to be regretted that Mr. Allen, in the exercise of his discretion, had thought proper to kill his two cows which were placed on the register; but, after all, it did not really affect the question at issue at all; the cows in question had been for a long time under treatment by chlorate of potash. Three other cows which were ill at Mr. Allen's, were killed on the 16th and 17th, and five more had been killed since, one of which had been under arsenicum. Of Mr. Reid's cattle two cows and two bulls were put on the register os the 16th, one cow died on the 20th, and another on the 21st, one bull on the 18th, and the other on the 20th. Mr. Reid's stock had been the 18th, and another on the register; the bull was thought to be sickening, but was not registered to the previous day (November 24) but ten grazing bullocks, one of which showed decided symptoms of rinderpest. At Mr. Carman's, of Weston, one cow was put on the register on the 16th, and died on the 20th, and the other was convolucement, but the pulse was 84 and the respiration 32. Of ten young beasts two had died and two were very ill. The stock on this farm had been made are required to the retainent as they fell ill. At Mr. Savory's, Sparham, five bullocks, one had recove

As regards the Cattle Plague Commission, I was in hopes that some of the evidence taken would have been published, and that some light might have been thrown on the matter by comparing the treatment of their stock by some owners who have escaped. We do not hear of any of the valuable herds of Shorthorns, Devons, or Herefords, which compete for the prizes at the annual shows of the Royal Agricultural Society suffering from the plague. When it first broke out in the London cowshels, a great sensation was caused by its ravages in the herds of Lord Granville and Miss Burdett Coutts. I wrote to the ballif of the former, and the answer I received was, that "the stock under his care had been feed chiefly on brevers' grains, which he thought had put them off taking any rock salt, and therefore it had not been given to them regularly." From the bailiff of Mess Cousts I received no answer; therefore, I fear he also had neglecte well-known city merchant suggested the propriety of every one submitting to be sarched, offering to set the example himself. The suggestion was unanimously adopted, and the operation commenced in the presence of the policeman, who just then made his appearance with the conductor. The scene which ensued baffles description. The well-known downtown merchant's coat pockets, to his unmistakable horror and astoniahment, were found crammed with the old Irishwoman's apples, which had also found their way into the pockets of the gentleman who had lost his watch, and into those of the complaining spinsters, while the missing pocket-book and handkerchief were discovered on the person of the newly-arrived policeman, and two live rabbits, leaping out of the conductor's capacious coatpockets, disappeared under the ladies' crinoline. The excitement was now at its height: everybody was up, and talking to everybody else. But the watch and portemonnaic were still missing, when the gentleman who had been standing on the platform, but who had taken advantage of the "noise and confusion" to secure a seat inside, quietly picked up two apples from the floor, and opening them, found the missing watch in one and the portemonnaie in the other. About this time the stranger was recognised by one of the passengers as Hermann, the celebrated, prestidigitaters, who then explained that, feeling very tired of standing up, he thought he might procure a seat by creating a slight commotion inside, and, having accomplished his object, now begged to apologise for the liberty he had taken. Roars of laughter pronounced him "not guilty;" but the old irishwomna continued to grunble, and, like Rachel, would not be comforted for the loss of her apples, many of which had suffered a total eclipse in the confusion of the moment. A two-and-a-half gold piece, opportunely slipped into her hand by Herman-, soon reconciled her, however, to the new state of things, and, alighting with her empty basket, she went on her way rejoicing.—New York Home Journal.

ONPEL OAK GALVANIZED IRON.

I Timed and Untinned. Obtained the only Prize Medal in the Trade at the International Exhibition of 1862. This is the oldest manufacture in the galvanized iron trade, it having been established at Messrs. J. and E. Walker's, Gougel Oak-street Mills, Tipton, Staffordshire, in 1842, and for some years was sold under the name of the late film of Moreswood and Rogers.

It is now to be obtained through all merchants, and only of

A RGYLE BONDED and FREE STORES, ARGYLE

A STREET.—Mr. J. S. MITCHELL, having retired from the firm of Measrs. R. and F. Tooth and Co., has purchased the whole of the property known as the ARGYLE STORES, and solicits the attention of merchante and others to the advantages offered for storing goods of every description, at lowest rates, either bond or free.

Extensive alterations are intended to the buildings, which, with their central situation, will make them the most convenient warehouses of the kind in Sydney.

The agency of parties engaged in financial transactions will be undertaken, and arrangements made with mercantile firms, so desirous, to relieve them of all their store duties.

passes through the northern portion of the property.

THE RESIDENCE is beautifully situated on a slight eminence—commanding a fine view, and contains dining and drawing rosens and two beforeoms under the same roof. There are three beforeen and library detached, which, with a kitchen, stone store, servants' room, and other out-offices form a courtyard (at the rear), in which yard is a tank containing 5000 gallona of water with pump—also a gardener's cottage of two rooms shingled, addiating is a garden of shout 4 scree, "well-stocked with the cheicest fruit trees and vines. In the garden are two large reservoirs for water, and upon the property are four large artificial ponds for the use of the cattle, independent of the NEVER-FALLING NEPEAN RIVER AND HARRIS CREEK.

There are three cultivation paddocks of about 25 acres each, and two of 5 acres each, all stumped, a grass paddock of about half of which is cleared and stumped, and the remainder, bush, is subdivided into four paddocks.

The limits of an advertisement preclude the possibility of dwelling upon the many advantages which a property of this character possesses; suffice it that to the grader in quest of an estate, where he can temporarily grave his cattle for a market, or to the agriculturist searching for a property to farm for a profit, or to the man of business seeking for quiet, it is but seldom such an opportunity presents fixed; the lattinate merits of the property and its easy access to the metropolis lending increased value to it. The DOUGLASS FARK ESTATE is one of the old estates of the colony, and the care and expense bestowed upon it will now be serived by the purchaser.

The sheep are free from all contagious discosses. They we of very superior quality, and yield a heavy clip. Great supuse has been incurred in introducing the choicest ranse sucurable; of the present stock of rams, 6 are pure bred knehouillet, 7 pure German, and all imported. About cash all the flock are young sheep, the progeny of the imported rams and stud ewes that have been carefully selected. Others are beef from the celebrated Glengallan, Rosenthal, and other first-class flocks. A large proportion of the Tentrelied dip averaged in London, in the last Angust selects, and the second production of the second production. The cattle are very quiet and superior. No exponse has been speed in supplying the herd with bulks from the best breds in the colony.

The turnhear of this station will have the epition for leaving for five years at a routal of £100 per amount, the 2000 ACRES OF PURCHASED LAND adjecting the town of Tenterfield, and upon which are extensive grees and cultivation paddocks.

OLIFTON.

Clifton adjoins and lies to the westward of Tenterfield, on the Tenterfield Creek. The head stations are about twenty miles spart. The country is thinkly grassed, and well watered in all seasons. It consists attegether of unditaining open forest country and well abeltered ridges. The run contains an area of about 50,000 square scree, and its setimated grazing capabilities are 25,000 sheep and 600 exitie, and their yearly increase in all seasons.

The improvements comprise, at the head station, an excellent verands notage of ten rooms, well-istocked with various kinds of English fruit trees, now in fall bearing, vineyard, in a high state of culture, also vegetables, shrubs and flowers in profusion, and stone English forcet trees. Frecisely the same remarks unde respecting the Tenterfield sheep apply equally to those of Clifton, except that the imported rans alinded to are at Tenterfield.

Tenterfield and Clifton stations have for some years past been worked together as one property. They are admirably adapted for leng so worked. Each station is, however, complete within itself, and the working can be separated at any moment, and they will be sold together or separately, se may be quired.

Tenterfield is entitled to a lease for five years, from 1st January 1960, at 2550 per annum.

Clifton is entitled to the same, at £168 per annum.

Application has been made to the Government to set apart water reserves for the use of the back country; and to protect said reserves from froe selection. The applications are in course of being granted.

The township of Tenterfield being within a short distance of these stations, ensures a permanent and unlimited supply of efficient labour.

It would take up too much space to enumerate all the advantages of these splendid properties. Suffice it to my, that New England is well knewn to be the finnest wool-growing district in the colony; the climate is also very substrictes. The homesteads on these stations are very substrictes. The homesteads on these stations we perfectly arranged, and the homestead profess, doe, well obtained for the rendence of gentlesses with large function. As these properties are now brought fits the market for bona fide min, to close accounts, the stanting of capitalists is specially directed to the apportunity thus affected for obtaining, on favourable terms, two of the most important pasteral properties in New South Wales; and intending purchasers are invited to impost the stations, and are referred to Mr. J. Hooke, at Tenterdald House, who will farmish every further information that may be required, or to Mesers. Richardson and Wrench, Pitt-street, Sydney.

THE SYDNEY AND GOULBURN MARKETS
it would prove invaluable, as when no demand existed steels need not be sacrificed, but might be kept here for more favoursible times; or persons with a thorough knowledge of breeding night so arrange as to make this a breeding farm on which to rear lambe and calves for the Sydney market, two articles always largely in demand and commanding high prices. This branch of business has hitherto been monopolised by the farmers on the eastern side of the coast range, but with the opening of railway communication the trade must secessarily fall into the hands of such breeders of the interior as may have the sense to avail themselves of it.

To capitalists and speculators the Austioneors would say in corclusion, that, in pointing out the advantages present and prospective of this suburban estate, they have carefully kept themselves within the bounds of positive and well known fact, leaving to those gentlemen who are well able to judge for themselves within the bounds of positive and INLAY and CO., Goulburn, have received instructions to sell by public auction, at their Rosena, Markot-square, on THURSDAY, 22nd February, at 11 o'oloft, cent Estate, That magnificent Estate, GUERANDOOLEY, more generally known as Lake George.

PROBLEMENTS OF MARGINET MAY PROPERLY AND PRO are justified in mentioning this, not merely as a possibility, but a probability.

It is almost needless to call the attention of gentlemen who may be Crown tenants to the advantages offered by a CERTAINTY AND FIXITY OF TENURE that nothing can disturb. They have already experismost the first fruits of the operation of the Land Law in the increased rentals that have been imposed upon them; that they have not been bled to the utmost to patch up the failing revenue is due to the special intervention of a season of almost unparalleled frought. There is no doubt that this has asved them from the screw that would otherwise have been clapped upon them; and nothing but the absolute desert appearance of their runs prevented many of those valuators from appraising the rune at a rental that would have left little, if any, margin of profit to the lessee. At the next appraisements, if the season should be a promising one when the valuators visit the runs, the result will assuredly be vary different; those, however, are but the first fruits, the aftercrop has still to be partaken of; and now that 1869 brings with it the free-selector to pitch dewn on a catite-camp, to hem in a sheep station, or to monopolize a water-hole, the full benefit of their Government tenancy and of the working of the Land Law will be experienced. To THOSE SQUATTERS who may have suffered from an undus imposition of rental, or who may feel that they have escaped this consummation only through causes that have entailed bease in another and perhaps a more serious way Finlay and Co. would say—that with their capital invested in a freehold like Currandoeley, and their energy and enterprise given to its developments, much more certain results would be obtained than from any amount of Government domain, held upon a censtantly changing rent, and subject to perpetual invod on the part of every person who may choose to call himself a free-selector. To THE CAPITALIST who may be deafrous of investing in stock, the anctionness would also point to Currandoeley as a

FOR POSITIVE SALE.

By order of the Trustees under the Will of the late
W. Lithgow, Esq.

First-class Agricultural and Grasing Retate, known as COTTLE WOLLA.

containing an area of 6381 ACRES of RICH AGRICULTURAL and GRAZING LAND, including the TOWNSHIP of WOODHOUSKLEE, and having a frontage of at least 2 MILES to the WOLLONDILLY RIVER.

This very choice little equattage has been used in conjunction with the other more extensive cetates of the late W. Lithgow, Esq., and may be said to possess all the merits and advantages for the depasturing of sheep and cattle, so characteristic in the properties of the deceased, many portions containing blocks of the richest arable land.

Inliary and CO., Goulburn, have received instructions to sell by auction, at their Rooms, Market-square, on THURSDAY, 22nd February, at 12 o'clock,
The well-known property,
COTTLE WOLLA,
containing 6381 scree of undeniably first-class graning land, capable of depasturing, with the Government land adjoining, from RIGHT THOUSAND to TEN THOUSAND SHEEP. The frontage extends along the Wollondilly River at least 24 miles, and the back portion of the estate is intersected by creeks and springs, containing in all seasons as the control of the cataletic finesescents by creeks and springs, containing in all seasons as the control of the cataletic finesescents in the control of the cataletic finesescents and the control of the cataletic finesescents and allotment. The remainder of the grant referred to its subdivided into farms, which could readily be soild to the neighbouring tenantry.

As this property has been used entirely in conjunction with the others—Kenmore and Lake George—the improvements are only of an ordinary character, but quite sufficient for entering into immediate pastoral pursuits.

To granter, gentlemen, and others desirous of securing a first-class agricultural and pastoral property, Finlay and Co. need only remark, that most of the advantages pertaining to the other properties are to be found here; and the Auctioneers feel perfectly estimied that an inspection easo made will convince the most fatilities utilat hands, and at a little outlay, may be made to compare favourably with any estate in the district.

Terms:—25 per cent. on the day of sale; 25 per cent. on the nurchaser obtaining possession, which will be on the THURSDAY, 22nd February. For Positive Sale, by order of the Mortgagoe.

THE MAGNIFICENT AGRICULTURAL AND PASTORAL FREEHOLD PROPERTY, known as GURRUNDA,
situated within twenty miles of the CITY OF GGULBURN, and centaining an area of 6044 acres of the RICHEST ARABLE LAND IN THE COUNTY.

The attention of Squatters, Speculators, Capitalists, and Gentlemen derious of securing a first-class property or Stock Depot, is particularly invited to this MAGNIFICENT FREEHOLD ESTATE.

MAGNIFICENT FREEHOLD ESTATE.

INLAY and CO., Goulburn, have received instructions to sell by public auction, at their Rooms, Market-square, on THURSDAY, 22nd February, at 12 o'clock,
This truly valuable property, consisting of 5000 acres of first-class land, 2560 of which were selected thirty-five years ago, when the whole district was open to the selector; the balance was purchased a few years later, with due regard to the enhancement of the value of the seate; and, in addition, at various times, 22 small Farms, which are peculiarly valuable, have been secured in almost every instance, to enclose Springs and to command UNLIMITED EXTENT OF GOVERNMENT the whole making an aggregate of 6044 acres 3 reads 15 perches freehold.

The DWELLING is a spacious, comfortable, and tastefully built cottage, with full-length verandah; and the offices and farm buildings contain every requisite for a family and for cerrying on extensive farming and grazing operations.

The GARDEN is stocked with a variety of choice fruit trees and vines; and the spile orebard contains a large selection of the best descriptions from Canden.

The PADDOCKS are exceedingly large, covering an area of nearly 2000 ACRES, suddivided into pastoral and agricultural lands. The soil is riant beyond description. The stockyard, which is creeted on the most approved plan, is capable of holding 3006 actile.

The BARN is large and commodious, and will easily hold 1000 bushels of wheat in sheaf. At one end is creeted a threshing-machine, driven by the same machinary as a feur horse-power mill, and dressing machine adjoining.

FINLAY and CO. feel that, were they to exter into a detailed description of this magnificent property, or as attempt pointing out its many advantages, they would sully be committing to paper what is generally known by all the old pioneers, and by many of the long-established cesmaccial houses in Sydney, that as an early selection it is conspicted to the state of the state of the state of the state of the tropical climate; in proof of which we would arrest the attention of capitalists and squatters to the fact that Gurrunda, at the present moment, stands slone as being one of the few properties that is HEAVILY AND RICHLY GRASSED, and with abundance of water in springs and creeks.

To those unacquainted with this property the suctionsers would only asy that it has all the advantages of a suburban cetate, being in close proximity to the city and within eight miles of the intended avtension of the GREAT SOUTHERN RAILWAY;

whilst to equatters holding runs in the Lachian, Billybong, or Riverina District, it would prove invaluable, as during the summer months, when all herbage in the hottast climates has disappeared, the grass on Gurrunda is peculiarly luxuriant.

TITLE UNQUESTIONABLE. Full particulars of which may be obtained on application to HENRY MOORE, Req., Moore's Wharf, Sydney, where also plans of the Estate may be inspected.

Terms:—25 per cent. cash; 25 per cent. on completion of conveyance; balance at twelve months from day of sale, with 8 per cent. interest added; or half the purchase money may remain secured by mortgage on the property.

THURSDAY, let March.

To Capitalists, Squatters, and others.

For Sale by Public Auction,
The REEDY LAKE STATION, UPPER BURDEKIN, NORTH KENNEDY District, Queensland. WORMALD has received instructions from the Mortgagees to sell by auction, at his Sale Rooms, Rest-street, Rockhampton, on THUREDAY, the let March, at 12 o'clock noon.

The above first-class station, consisting of (6) six blocks of first-class station, consisting of (6) six blocks of first-class sheep country, having a frontage to the River Burdekin, and intersected by Fletcher's and Allingham's Creeks, containing a never-failing supply of water in all seasons.

The country consists of open basaltic plains and ironbark ridges, well grassed with plenty of salt-bush, and olise fattening herbs; its carrying capabilities are 35,000 sheep; upon the above station are also reversl small reedy lakes, most of which have permanent waters.

With the above will be sold 7000 FIRST-CLASS SHRRP, which are all sound, and have never been diseased (all lambs to count as sheep).

The improvements consist of a substantial built slab house containing four rooms, and store, with detached kitchen, woolahed, stockyard, and three out-sheep stations. The distance of the above from the hearest port (Cleveland Bay) is between eighty and ninety miles, to which place there is an excellent road; from Fort Denison, 150 miles. The Commissioner's house, post-office, general store, and blackmitth's shop, are at the Upper Crossing of the Burdekin, and distant seven miles from the head station.

the Durceau, station.

There is also a small herd of milking cattle now on the run, which, together with the working bullocks, drays, tools, stores, &c., will have to be taken at a valuation. Terms—One-third cash, balance by bills at 6, 9, 12, and 18 months, with bank interest added, to be accused on the stock and station. All further particulars can be assertained on application at the offices of the Anctioneer, Rasterest.
